

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of raising funds and storing and displaying in a secure fashion a variable plurality of cremation storage vessels has the steps of a provider providing a storage and display case to an entity. The storage and display case retains in a secure fashion a plurality of cremation storage vessels. The storage and display case has a plurality of hollow cavities, each having an opening on a front face of the cavity; defined interior storage and display positions for said cremation storage vessels and other personal memorabilia; a storage vessel retainer disposed adjacent to the display positions for locking vessels disposed in those display positions; a decorative face block attachable with said front face of the cavities. The method continues by reserving and selling said cavities by the entity to donors and having an agreement between said provider and the entity that a specified portion of funds raised through said selling of said cavities revert to the provider.